

SCORES KILLED BY POWDER BLAST IN MINE AT WILKES-BARRE

CAR OF EXPLOSIVE ATTACHED TO TRIP CARRYING MEN LETS GO WITH TERRIBLE RESULTS

Many Who Escape Being Torn Asunder Fall Victims of Flames and Fumes While Attempting to Crawl to Safety; Catastrophe Follows Night of Festivity Over Return of Soldier Regiment.

ACCIDENT ONE OF WORST IN REGION'S HISTORY

By Associated Press.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 5.—Seventy-eight men lost their lives this morning as the result of an explosion of blasting powder in a car attached to a train load of miners being transported to their work in Baltimore No. 2 mine of the Delaware & Hudson Coal company, while at least 31 were injured, according to a list given out by the company officials at noon.

Forty-one bodies have been identified and 37 remain unidentified. The company's injured list is not complete and it is certain that the number of injured will reach about 40.

The disaster is, with one exception, the greatest that has ever occurred in this vicinity.

More than 100 mine workers were riding to their work, crowded into what is known as a trip of mine cars drawn by a motor. The rear car carried 12 kegs of black powder used for blasting loose the coal in the chambers. The mine is modern and equipped electrically. The trolley wire snapped when the train had gone about 200 feet from the entrance. The wire sputtered and sizzled and the sparks emitted touched off the powder.

The terrified men on the cars instantly were aware of the danger that confronted them, but they stood powerless to avert it.

There was a roar and in an instant every man and boy on the train was either dead or dying. Terribly mangled bodies were found everywhere by the rescue crews which instantly rushed into the mine. Fire fighters working frantically succeeded in an incredibly short time in subduing the flames which followed the blast.

Flames caused the greater loss of life. Many of the bodies were burned to a crisp. Other men who were burned and were trying to reach safety died of suffocation. When rescuers reached the tunnel there were dead and dying scattered everywhere. The injured were rapidly removed and sent to hospitals as quick as ambulances could be provided and the dead were brought out and placed in tiers on the green.

Doctors and nurses were somewhat late in arriving on the scene. This was because many of them were abed when the accident happened. Hospitals quickly filled and morgues were filled to overflowing.

Then came the gruesome work of taking out the dead and injured. Those who had not already succumbed were so badly burned that in nearly every case death is a matter of a short time.

Carelessness and violation of the mine laws of the state caused the great loss of life. One of the most drastic provisions of the anthracite mine code is the section forbidding the transportation of men on a car or train which carries explosives. Yet the train of little cars conveying its freight of miners had attached to its rear a dozen kegs of powder. Investigation will disclose whether the men or the company is responsible for the violation of the law.

Some of the first bodies brought from the tunnel were burning when they reached the surface. Clothes had been burned away and the flesh was searing from the intense heat. Water was poured on these to put out the fire. It was such sights as this that made brave hearts turn sick.

At 12:30 o'clock the company officials announced that 71 men were dead and that 35 were at the hospitals. It was stated that the death list will increase.

Company employees state that there is a "pull" of 185,000 cubic feet of air per minute in the tunnel and that the air pulled in the flames from the powder directly over the men. Alongside of the tunnel there is a creek and after the flash of the flames some men who were walking along the side of the cars dropped into the water and saved their lives. Several employees state that it was not the force of the explosion that killed the men. Flames and the lack of air caused all the fatalities. All admit that the accident was the result of the violation of the law but they state that miners are accustomed to these violations.

Thomas Dougherty, a miner, one of the survivors who was thrown out of the car by the blast and saved himself by jumping into a ditch. He said:

"We were riding along about 50 feet in the tunnel. There was a blinding flash. I was thrown from the car. I saw the water and I hurried myself into it. Bodies were all about. Some I know were dead; others were dying. The flames were terrible. They were all about. We were in a veritable hell. No man could possibly hope to escape with his life unless he got into the water, buried his face and rolled over and over as I did. There was powder in the car. There were about 10 kegs and besides there were kegs carried by the men. Of course I do not know what set them off, but I believe that the trolley wire broke and the sparks ignited the powder."

Each and last night was the scene of great gayety. That section of the

LOCAL BOYS WILL PARADE SATURDAY IN PITTSBURGH

Arrangements Made for 319th Infantry to be Reviewed on Way to Camp Sherman.

The 319th Infantry, 80th Division, will parade in Pittsburgh on Saturday. The soldiers will march in review when they stop off in the Smoky City while enroute to Camp Sherman where they will receive their discharge. It had been hoped that all the regiments could parade in the city on the same day but demobilization exigencies forbade this.

The 319th will detain at the East Liberty station at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. The same schedule for the 320th Infantry, parading in Pittsburgh today, will be followed by the 319th. Breakfast will be served at Syria Mosque after which the soldiers can meet their relatives. The parade will form at 4 o'clock.

There are a great many soldiers from Connellsville and the immediate vicinity in the 319th and it is possible that a representation from this city will attend the parade.

A NON-STOP FLIGHT

Is Made by C-8 Which Passed Over Connellsville Tuesday Morning.

The Navy dirigible C-8, which passed over Connellsville Tuesday morning, completed a non-stop flight from Akron, O., to Cape May, N. J., at 8:15 P. M. Tuesday evening, two hours behind schedule time. During the last part of the trip a shortage of gasoline caused the machine to reduce its speed, otherwise it would have reached its destination on time.

The dirigible was piloted by Lieutenant Commander Paunack and Lieutenant Lawrence of the Naval aviation force. It left Akron at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, making the flight to Connellsville in about four hours and covering the entire distance in 13 hours.

SENATE PASSES AMENDMENT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Question Now Goes to the State Legislatures For Ratification.

PENNSYLVANIA MAY LEAD

Strong Effort Being Made to Have Keystone State First to Put Stamp of Approval on Enfranchisement of the Fair Sex; Action Expected Soon.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Susan B. Anthony amendment giving the ballot to women passed the Senate late yesterday afternoon by a vote of 59 to 25. The amendment was passed by the House May 21 by a vote of 304 to 89. The question of making suffrage an amendment to the constitution now goes to the various state legislatures for ratification. The approval of 36 states is necessary.

The Pennsylvania legislature may be among the first to ratify or reject the proposed amendment. It was announced here by suffrage leaders. They said favorable action by Pennsylvania will exert great influence in other states. Mrs. Lawrence Lewis of Philadelphia is now in Harrisburg, representing suffrage forces. National leaders were in communication with Mrs. Lewis, urging her to bring about favorable action by the Pennsylvania legislature at an early date.

In addition to Mrs. Lewis it is announced that Mrs. J. O. Miller of Pittsburgh, head of the Pennsylvania Woman's Suffrage Association, will be in Harrisburg to help direct the fight. Mrs. Maude Wood Parke of the National Association was in communication with Mrs. Miller by telephone and discussed the Pennsylvania situation.

It was predicted that Pennsylvania would have the distinction of being the first state to ratify. Only three other state legislatures are in session. The Florida legislature adjourned June 1. The Ohio legislature will reconvene June 16. Both houses are in favor of suffrage. The convening of the West Virginia legislature rests with Governor John J. Cornwell. Suffrage leaders say a special session will be called by the governor to give the members opportunity to pass on the amendment.

When a tabulation of the vote was made it was found that 36 Republicans and 20 Democrats voted for the amendment and eight Republicans and 17 Democrats were against. Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania opposed the amendment. Senator Boies Penrose, who had been in Washington, would have voted in opposition. He was paired against West Virginia's two Republican senators, Davis Elkins and Howard Sutherland, who voted favorably.

DEPORTATION FOR ALIENS

Government Will Make Quick Work of Foreign Agitators.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Many of the aliens now being caught in the dragnet thrown out by the federal and municipal police as the result of the bomb outrages last Monday night may be deported. It became known today that records in the cases of all those arrested, who cannot be connected directly with the bomb plot, are being turned over to the Department of Labor.

Deportation of at least 50 alien agitators is understood to be pending but officials of the immigration bureau declined to discuss the cases. Some of the men are said to have taken out their first citizenship papers.

MORRIS GRODZIN ON WAY TO FAME AND FORTUNE IN OIL FIELDS OF LONE STAR STATE

Three summers ago, instead of going to Atlantic City for his vacation, Morris J. Grodzin decided to pay a visit to his sister, Mrs. I. Ruby, formerly Miss Florence Grodzin, at Tulsa, Oklahoma. Mr. Ruby was engaged in the oil business there and elsewhere and straightway Morris became interested. The result is he is well on the way to fortune, according to information given out by him on a visit here today with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Grodzin, his trip also being of a business nature.

Mr. Grodzin is a director of and field superintendent for the International Petroleum company, a recently organized corporation with headquarters at Fort Worth, Texas, and with several wells in process of drilling and others contemplated. The International, Mr. Grodzin said, has 80 acres under lease in the Burk Burnett field in Texas and 440 acres at Toward Park, three miles from the Burk Burnett center. The company also has leased, he said, 5,000 acres in Falls county, Texas; 160 acres in Tillman county, Oklahoma, and 80 acres in Reynolds county, Texas.

Just now the company is centering its energies in the drilling of two wells in the Burk Burnett area where some gushers have been located in recent months. Six other wells will be started within 30 days, Mr. Grodzin said.

Oil and gasoline occupy the mind of Mr. Grodzin every waking hour. Besides in the International company, he has interests in a number of others in various parts of the Lone Star state and in Oklahoma.

The Burk Burnett pool, at Wichita Falls, Texas, was located less than a year ago. Since then it has made numerous fortunes. By reason of his 36 years in the oil and gas business in West Virginia and Ohio and the Southwest, Mr. Grodzin's brother-in-law, Mr. Ruby, found little difficulty in getting on the inside in the rush for Burk Burnett. The town of Burk Burnett, Mr. Grodzin said, is about the size of Dunbar, but in it 30,000 persons live while 5,000 wells have been drilled within its confines and many others are going in on the outskirts.

Mr. Grodzin's brother-in-law has become wealthy in the oil business. His home is at Tulsa, Okla., where he has just completed a residence reputed to have cost $50,000 and regarded as one of the show places of the region.

SEASON TICKETS FOR CHAUTAUQUA ARE DISTRIBUTED

Supply is in Hands of E. C. Moore at Wright-Metzger Store; Advance Agent Hickmeyer Here.

H. D. Hickmeyer, the first advance representative for the Connellsville Chautauqua, has arrived and started an advertising campaign that will continue until the Chautauqua is well under way. Tickets for the week's program have been delivered and at present about 500 of the 800 pledged by citizens in a year are in the hands of those signing for them. Persons who signed for tickets should call on E. C. Moore, clothing department of the Wright-Metzger store, and redeem their pledges soon. This is the only place at which this obligation may be discharged and receipts for same obtained.

The fact that the price remains the same, $2.20, including war tax, is by no means an indication that the program standard have been lowered. Every assurance is given that this season the Chautauqua is to exceed all previous records for popularity.

The tuncful light opera, "The Chocolate Soldier," is to be heard in addition to many other star features. There will be a cast of 30 people and the play presented in full costume and with scenery and lighting effects, such as would be expected in a first class theatrical production.

In addition to "The Chocolate Soldier," Chautauqua patrons are to hear more than 15 other star productions, including Alby Sammis-MacDonald, dramatic soprano; Captain Paul Bewsher, of the British air force; the timely American drama, "The Meeting Place," by a New York company; Katherine Ridgeway, reader; the Weber-Male Quartet and Henry Adrian, the Burbank man. The complete program will be issued within a few days.

NOT DEAD YET

Johnny Ellenberger, Stabbing Victim, Able to Leave Hospital.

Johnny Ellenberger, the boy who was stabbed at the carnival grounds on Monday night by John Edwards, a negro, has been discharged from the Cottage State hospital and returned to his home. As soon as he is more improved, Edwards will be given a hearing, information against him having been made by the mother of the boy.

Ellenberger received a gash in his back when Edwards struck him with a knife. The lung was not punctured, however, and the wound did not prove serious. Reports about the city last night were that Ellenberger had died. Edwards was taken to Uniontown yesterday afternoon by Constable Ginsburg, where he will be held until he is brought back for a hearing before Alderman Fred Nunk.

ANDY GEORGE HAS COME TO RESCUE OF THE MOTORISTS

Free Use of Lot in Rear of Garage in Arch Street Offered For Parking.

ACCOMMODATES 75 CARS

Action Follows Crusade Against Persons Who Leave Machines Standing in Street's Longer Than Regulations Permit; Place is a Good One.

The threatened crusade against violators of the automobile regulations materialized yesterday and last night with the result that three arrests were made by the police, under orders of Acting Mayor R. W. Hoover to enforce the rules with regard to parking cars in the business section, the use of cut-outs and speeding.

With motorists in a dilemma as to where they are going to park cars, Andy George, proprietor of the Union garage in South Arch street, has come to the rescue with the offer, free of charge and with no strings attached, of the lot in the rear of the garage which will accommodate 50 to 75 cars. This place became available today and is open to any who care to use it.

The big lot is close to the business section, being less than 200 feet from Crawford avenue. There will be no charge whatever and any motorist may feel free and welcome to place his car there day or night. Slag was placed yesterday between the end of the paved street and the garage entrance, a distance of but a few feet. Several electric lights have been suspended inside the enclosure for use of night parkers. Cars may be left with a feeling of security for the garage force is there all the time.

If no other location for a public parking place is secured it is probable an effort will be made to have the Arch street paving extended to the garage lot. The distance is only about 30 feet.

Mr. George's generous offer to motorists giving them the use of the ground is a result of the police campaign against parking of machines in the streets. Many persons would be inconvenienced if it were necessary to drive outside the business district to park their machines and the use of the space next to the garage will be a big relief.

One man arrested, George Cochran, who appeared in police court this morning, was fined $2.50 by Councilman Hoover. The other two did not appear this morning. They will also be fined for violation of the parking clause of the ordinance which permits a car to stand but 15 minutes on the street. The license numbers of the machines are 345489 and 347508.

Cochran allowed his car to stand in North Pittsburgh street from 8:45 o'clock until 9:25. It was charged. One of the other machines, 145489, was parked in East Crawford avenue from 8:30 o'clock until 9 o'clock and the third car, No. 147598, remained in South Pittsburgh street from 8:05 o'clock until 8:30.

Not only are automobile owners included in the crusade but motorcyclists are required to live up to the same laws.

Another matter which has been called to the attention of the police is the practice of small boys driving machines. Some of the youngsters are hardly quite large enough to reach the brakes. Still they drive cars through the city daily.

SEAT SALE MONDAY

At That Time Tickets for Class Play May Be Exchanged.

Seats for the high school class play, "What's in a Name," to be given on Wednesday evening, June 11, at the auditorium, may be reserved at Hetzel's drug store beginning Monday morning. The tickets for the play have already been placed in the hands of the students and are selling rapidly.

If the seat sale is so great as to overflow the house, the play will have to be given on two nights, Tuesday and Wednesday. However, this will not be done unless it is necessary. Daily rehearsals for both class play and class day exercises are being held.

The caps and gowns to be worn by the graduates on commencement night have arrived.

"THE UNWRITTEN CODE"—A live reel production, based on the familiar theme "East is East and West is West," and never the train shall meet," is being presented today. It tells the story of a young American who married a Japanese girl in her native country and both had unhappiness from the union. Many such tales have been pictured in past years,
but this one ends with the American sailing back home, accompanied by a pretty young widow, having left his Japanese wife behind. The tragic ending, usually expected is absent
from this, the wife having discarded
her American husband at the request of her brother. There is considerable atmospheric charm about this number, the chief scenes being laid in an old garden of Japan. The bride and her American husband are happy until the night of the ball at the American club, where Kiku-San is treated badly by those who do not approve of such matches. From the moment
both she and Tower become discontent, though Kiku-San still loves him devotedly. Tower refuses to cast the girl off, according to the custom but her brother threatens to kill the American unless she takes this step. Miss Mason is supported by Matt Moore, Frank O'Connor and others. An interesting weekly review is also being shown. Friday and Saturday Tom Moore will be featured in "A Man and His Money."

"THE UNWRITTEN CODE"—A live
reel production, based on the familiar theme "East is East and West is West," and never the train shall meet," is being presented today. It tells the story of a young American who married a Japanese girl in her native country and both had unhappiness from the union. Many such tales have been pictured in past years,
but this one ends with the American
sailing back home, accompanied by a pretty young widow, having left his Japanese wife behind. The tragic ending, usually expected is absent
from this, the wife having discarded
her American husband at the request of her brother. There is considerable atmospheric charm about this number, the chief scenes being laid in an old garden of Japan. The bride and her American husband are happy until the night of the ball at the American club, where Kiku-San is treated badly by those who do not approve of such matches. From the moment
both she and Tower become discontent, though Kiku-San still loves him devotedly. Tower refuses to cast the girl off, according to the custom but her brother threatens to kill
the American unless she takes this step. Miss Mason is supported by

THE POLITICAL PARTIES AND SUFFRAGE

The victory achieved by U. S. supporters of the right of suffrage for women is due to the Republicans in the House and Senate, no matter what attempt the Democrats may make to claim the credit therefor. The friendly attitude of the Republicans has been proven in every instance when the measure has come to a vote in the national legislature but no more so than in the House ten days ago and in the Senate yesterday.

When the Susan B. Anthony amendment was brought to a vote in the House the result was 304 votes in favor to 89 votes against its adoption. An analysis of the vote presents the following:

For the resolution:	200
Republicans	102
Democrats	102
Independents	1
Prohibitionists	1
Total for	304
Against the resolution:	89
Democrats	79
Republicans	10

The vote on the resolution in the Senate yesterday was as follows:

For the resolution:	26
Republicans	20
Democrats	6
Total for	30
Against the resolution:	17
Democrats	17
Republicans	0

The combined vote in Congress, both House and Senate, shows the following party divisions:

For the resolution:	226
Republicans	122
Democrats	104
Independents	1
Prohibitionists	1
Total for	309
Against the resolution:	87

It will be well to keep these figures in mind when the pretentious claim is made—as it doubtless will be—that the Democratic party alone is responsible for having made it possible to submit to the various state legislatures the ratification of the constitutional amendment giving the ballot to women.

A NEW PLAN TO FINANCE STREET PAVING.

With the property owners along Davidson avenue and Chestnut street offering to give notes payable within four months after the paving of these thoroughfares has been completed, the city council has provided an easy plan for financing these improvements and one it should not long hesitate to adopt as a precedent to award of the contracts.

The property owners are the most interested parties and if they are willing, as they have shown themselves to be, to express themselves, to have the improvement made, and are ready, as they declare they are, to pay the cost, council has merely to serve as their agents in dealing with the contractor. Except as all citizens are interested in seeing permanent improvements made on our streets and other evidences of progress, the city as a whole has no concern in the proposition submitted to city council. The whole cost of the improvement would be assessed against the abutting properties hence the taxpayers as a whole would not be called upon to share any part of the burden.

Unless there be legal objections to the plan it seems council would be doing the fair thing by the patient and long suffering citizens along these streets to accept their proposition after the details of it have been arranged to the satisfaction of the city's legal department.

ACTION MUST BE VIGOROUS.

It is a noteworthy fact that of the 16 men already arrested for alleged participation in the bomb-throwing plots in Pittsburgh on Monday night, but one is reported to be an American citizen. What the proportion may be in the suspected groups gathered in to the net at other places is not known, but it may safely be presumed that in each instance the large majority is of foreign birth or extraction.

"This, if true," says the Pittsburgh Gazette Times, "shows just how slightly Americans are infected with the virus of anarchistic sentiments. Since the others are representatives of a class that has taken advantage of the welcome given to aliens in this land of liberty and have grossly abused the privilege by preaching anarchy and red ruin, short shrift should be given them, if full is clear. Their punishment should be made warning to others that America will no longer tolerate their breed. They should be sent to Russia where murder and rapine are daily practiced by their own brothers of the devil's spawn."

There has been rather too much hesitancy in the matter of deporting undesirable aliens, although there have been frequent announcements that such was the intention of the government. The people as a whole have decided that the time is ripe to take vigorous action against the enemies of law and order and are willing to back up Attorney General Palmer in his expressed determination to effectively suppress the alien efforts to intimidate and terrorize government and state officials. The Department of Justice will be expected, therefore, to see that its orders are carried out to the letter. Any other policy will stimulate, rather than hinder, the activity of the disciples of Bolshevism in America.

All conscientious and careful drivers of automobiles, no less than pedestrians in the city, will very heartily commend the determination of Acting Mayor Hoover to stop reckless driving, the use of cutouts and other violations of automobile laws and ordinances. It is unfair that the whole fraternity of automobile owners and drivers is made to suffer from the disregard of safety to other travelers in which a few careless and indifferent drivers persist from day to day. This can be broken up if the mayor's orders are obeyed. The campaign for safe driving can be very much advanced if automobile owners themselves, who do drive with some regard to the rules of the road, assist the authorities in identifying and apprehending the most flagrant violators.

The Home-Coming Celebration will be made safe for the public if the public in turn makes its observance sane.

It was entirely fitting, and proper that the young ladies should capture all the honors of the graduating class of '19. This is woman's suffrage year.

Connellsville citizens are not forgetting in these days and nights of extreme hot weather, two of our well known citizens—Rev. Father Burns and Mayor Duggan—who languish on beds of sickness in Pittsburgh hospitals.

The property owners along Davidson avenue and Chestnut street deserve to have their patience rewarded even if they have to put up the cash to get the reward.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

I THOUGHT IT WAS TROUBLE.

I thought it was trouble, it looked like disaster.
The heart in my breast, beating faster and faster.
Excited my blood till it throbbed in my veins.
And something kept saying: "Look out when it rains!"
Look out when it blows!
Where your fond hopes will be when the whirlwind goes by.
It will scatter
And shatter
The fortune you've made in the wink of an eye."

I thought it was trouble, I fretted and worried.
Stood still in despair, and then wildly I hurried.
Ran this way and that, and talked loudly as though
I could keep back the wind that was starting to start.
Then all that I'd feared
From the distance appeared.
The storm came and went and it wasn't so bad.
It rumbled and tossed me
But nothing it cost me.
And now I can laugh at the scare that I had.

I thought it was trouble, it was for a minute.
I was heartsick and sore all the time
I was in the thick of it, and I was
But I've learned that the cares and the burdens we borrow
Are things that we sit back and laugh at to-morrow.
So I took to the blow
And the oncoming woe
And wait till you're hurt are you whinner and cry
Just see the things through
Soon the skies will be blue
And you'll laugh at yourself when the storm has gone by.

SCREEN EARLY

It is important to screen your windows and doors early. The fly that flits the face, lights on food, leaves in it's wake disease and death. You cannot kill each fly but you can keep them out by proper screening. A mild winter causes numerous flies. One fly now makes a thousand later. The Union Supply Company has ample preparations to take care of all your screen wants—screen doors, screen windows, or any sort of wire screen you want. We also have a complete line of porch equipment, consisting of swings, easy chairs, Crex rugs. There has been a great demand for all this class of goods but we still have good stocks and can provide your wants.

FIFTY THOUSAND METHODISTS PLAN TO BE AT RALLY

Centenary Celebration Will be Held at Columbus, Ohio, June 26 to July 13.

PITTSBURGH, June 5—In an effort to organize the 50,000 Methodists from Western Pennsylvania, who are expected to attend the Methodist Centenary celebration in Columbus, Ohio, from June 26 to July 13, Chaplain O. R. Kagan is holding a series of conferences with district chairmen of Methodist Minute Men in this end of the state which will continue all this week and into the early part of next week.

The immensity of the Columbus celebration, which will mark the hundredth year of Methodist missions, the variety of the exhibits, the calibre of the speakers and the railroad fare concessions offered has resulted in thousands preparing to attend the combined World's Exposition and Chautauqua.

Methodist Minute Men will urge those who intend to go to send their registrations weeks in advance to H. B. Dickson of Columbus, Ohio, who is officially designated to make arrangements for the handling of hundreds of thousands of visitors. By means of the registration system the visitors will be assured of accommodations at Columbus.

The Minute Men's campaign will be directed by the following chairmen of districts in the Erie and Pittsburgh conference: Charles A. Tushingham of Pittsburgh, T. B. Hendrickson of Springdale, Rev. H. C. Renbom of Johnstown, James McCutcheon of Connelville, Claude Towner of Moonburg, Austin Blakeslee of Dubois, E. D. Kulse of Sugar Grove, Prof. Frederick G. Henke of Meadville, George T. Weingartner of New Castle and Edgar T. Welch of Westfield, N. Y.

BRITISH STEEL MAKERS

Fear the Loss of Steel Trade to Competitors in the United States.
The British steel makers are beginning to fear the United States, whose steel prices, instead of going up $4 or $5 a ton since the armistice was signed, have actually been reduced. The argument is that if America is in a position to supply the needs of the world she will doubtless secure a lot of business now on the market. This view is supported by the fact that the export trade of America has been advancing steadily month by month since November, and a good deal of it consists of steel for former customers of Germany. In the circumstances it is not surprising to learn that members of the British steel trade are none too optimistic.

EDWARD KOVAC BRINGS NEWS OF NEW SLOVAKIA

Uniontown Man Carries Personal Message From President of Republic.

WILL READ IT SUNDAY

Mass Meeting Called for 2 O'clock at Countyseat Theatre for That Purpose; Conditions Improving in the Newly-Formed Czech-Slovak State.

Bringing 2,000 letters from people in Czechoslovakia to relatives in this region and a personal letter from President T. G. Masaryk of the Czechoslovak republic to the people of the United States, Edward Kovac, recently chosen as one of six members of the National Slovak league to tour the new republic, returned to his home in Uniontown last evening. He expects to spend from a month to six weeks in this country carrying out the wishes of President Masaryk and his cabinet and will then return to serve in the diplomatic corps of the republic.

Conditions in the new republic, Mr. Kovac said, are most encouraging. Industrial activities are being resumed and part of his message to this country is to the business interests of the nation as to the manner in which they may extend their business to this new European field to the best possible advantage. There is plenty of food in the smaller towns and rural districts with conditions in the cities, while less satisfactory, far from being critical.

He visited every state of the new republic and was afforded every means of investigating conditions there. He will give a detailed statement of his trip at a meeting of the Slovak League of Fayette county to be held in the Dixie theatre, Uniontown, at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at which time he will also read the personal message from President Masaryk. He will begin the distribution of the 2,000 letters to relatives in this country of families overseas at once.

While in the new republic, Mr. Kovac bought a large summer resort and upon his return will direct some of his personal attention to the management of the enterprise.

He visited France and passed through parts of Germany and Switzerland on his way to Czechoslovakia, the capital of which is Prague.

Mrs. Alfred Bedard Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Baby

"At the age of three months my baby suffered with eczema that broke out in a rash, causing disfigurement. It would itch so that it caused him to scratch, and he became very cross and would be awake nights and keep me awake. It developed into large sore eruptions that got into his ears and on his neck."
"Then I was told about Cuticura, so I sent for a five sample. The first treatment gave relief so I bought more, and when I had used one cake of Soap and one and a half boxes of Ointment he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Alfred Bedard, 6401 Upland St., Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4, 1918.

EXPORT DEPARTMENT

To Be Created to Provide Assistance in Finding Foreign Coal Markets.
Creation of a department of coal exports, to stimulate the export coal trade of the country, has been announced by the United States Shipping Board.

In a statement commenting on the creation of the new department, the National Coal Association said representative operators believed it would provide the stimulus necessary to quicken production, which is far below normal because few buyers are in the market.

"The entire world, with the exception of the United States," the statement said, "is in the throes of a universal coal shortage today, and only the most sweeping increase in production wherever coal is mined can avert world-wide suffering next winter. More than 100,000,000 tons of coal could be sent out of the United States during the remainder of the year, were there ships enough to carry it, without meeting in full the foreign demand."

A GREAT EXODUS OF FOREIGN BORN WORKMEN IS DUE

Will Begin as Soon as Steamship Accommodations Can Be Obtained.

DESIRE TO SEE FRIENDS

And Learn How They Fared During the Great War is the Influence Urging Them to Make the Journey; Not Limited to One or Two Nationalities

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Inquiries by the investigation and inspection service, department of labor, into the number of aliens who contemplate returning to their native lands reveal that a large number plan to return as soon as steamship accommodations are obtainable, reads a statement issued by the labor department. "The work of the service in this investigation has covered a large number of industrial centers, and it has been found that centers of the steel industry, in particular, have large numbers of aliens who want to return to Europe. The reasons for this are that in the steel industry the number of aliens employed is larger than in most others, and that unemployment is general in steel centers."

"Reports from field agents indicate that contrary to general impression there has been no propaganda of importance conducted by steamship agents, for the reason that the steamships already have all the traffic they can handle. The foreign language press and clergy have been almost as a unit opposed to the expected exodus. Already large numbers are going, and many more are expected to go as soon as steamship space and passports can be obtained. "The agents of the service have found that literature from Europe urging aliens to return has been neither widely distributed nor influential. The principal cause for the flow of immigration that has already begun is the desire of aliens here to learn what has befallen their families in their native lands. Many aliens have told investigators that they have not heard from their wives and children for four years. They have sent money home but have no means of knowing whether it has been received. Another important cause of emigration in certain sections is the desire to participate in the settlement of estates of relatives killed during the war."

"Apart from family or financial interests in Europe, probably the most important cause of emigration, so far as the investigators have determined, is unemployment, which is still severe in certain sections of the country. There is also the desire on the part of many foreigners to return to the lands they were freed from German or Austrian domination, for they believe that opportunities will be better in the new democracies than in the United States."

"A great deal of detail has been collected in connection with the emigration. Figures from many cities show that fully 50 per cent. of the aliens of certain races intend to go back to Europe. A large number of these fully expect eventually to return to America, but others say that they do not want to come back here. In the case of many, it is probable that conditions abroad will influence their decision in one way or the other."

"The clergyman of one foreign church with 1,600 parishioners, expected not more than 100 to remain in this country. In an Indiana city with a large Roumanian population, from 40 to 50 per cent want to return to their homeland, Transylvania. Few Poles in the same city expected to return; but 150 of the 600 Serbians wished to go, and it was said that if unemployment became more serious the number would be increased. Already 150 Italians and 100 Greeks have left this city. The numbers are large in view of the size of the Italian and Greek populations."

"An investigation by a steel plant showed that 66 per cent of its alien employees were married and that 64 per cent had their dependents in the Old Country. In this plant, 61 per cent of the aliens declared their intention to return, and of this number 91 per cent said they were going to stay. Only 9 per cent planned to return only for a visit. This investigation, privately conducted, confirms the inquiries made by the department of labor."

"Among Lithuanians there is a strong feeling that if Lithuania becomes independent there will be a large movement back to that country. The figures given are taken at random from a large mass of material gathered by the investigation and inspection service. A typical letter from a steamship company, showing that emigration propaganda by such companies is practically negligible, comes from only Albanians, Croats, Serbians and Danes, can be accepted for transportation by that line and that since the company could not say in advance whether its steamships sailing in May would carry third-class passengers, no reservations for passage could be made until the steamers reached port here."

CONDITIONS IN THE COKE AND STEEL TRADES. The Connelville coke region shares with other industrial sections having a large foreign-born population, in the preparations men are making to go abroad as a first opportunity, but although the region is running only about 30 per cent full, there are comparatively few evidences of non-employment, and there is no talk of a reduction in wages even from the high standard of war time. The steel producers are really more apprehensive regarding their own labor supply than other interests and even more concerned about

CLEVELAND CLUB HAS OUTFIELD MADE UP OF FORMER TWIRLERS, INCLUDING SPEAKER

The Cleveland club has what one might call a "pitching outfit." The 1919 club for the Indians this season will be Tris Speaker, Joe Wood, J. Gladstone Graney, Elmer Smith and Charles Jamieson.

Ended Graney's Career. As every baseball fan knows, Wood was for several years the premier pitcher of the Red Sox. Both Graney and Jamieson broke into the American league as pitchers. Graney became a member of the Indians in 1908. On the Cleveland team's first visit to New York that season, J. Gladstone stuck his hurling hand in front of a horde of New Ball, the former member of the Yankees. That ended Graney's pitching career.

Jamieson was pitching in the Metropolitan league when signed by Clark Griffith three years ago. The recruit, however, failed to impress the manager of the Senators with his line of goods, and Griffith converted him into an outfielder.

Speaker as a Pitcher. The redoubtable Speaker has pitched a game in the American league. Near the tag and of the 1915 season, and with the pennant won, Bill Carrigan nominated the great outfielder to pitch against the Washington team. Elmer Smith was never a pitcher in the American league, having did a lot of hurling, both at the Cubs and for his company's baseball team in France.

the labor supply of their customers, pressed and prospective. It being realized that if construction and other work requiring steel cannot go ahead for lack of men, there will be a very much restricted market for steel products.

Former Major League Player, Is Bossing Toledo Team Under Direction of Bresnahan.

Rolie Zeider, who lost a lucrative job with the New York Yankees because he was afflicted with a bunion, made good with the Chicago Federals and Cubs, is now manager of the Toledo American association club. As successor to Roger Bresnahan, Rolie will have more trouble than a party afflicted with corns, bunions, insomnia and the St. Vitus dance, all working together. He will have Bresnahan to boss him as president, which is trouble enough without the rest. Zeider's progress will be watched with some interest by fans.

NEW STAR APPEARS IN SOUTH

Moore Ducote, Collegian Now Playing With Mobile, Looks Like Another George Sider.

If there is any ball club that has an option on Mobile players, it had better be closing on Moore Ducote. This collegian, breaking into the professional game, looks like another George Sider all over. He has been playing the outfield, but he can play first or pitch, and he sure can hit and run bases. The St. Louis Cardinals have been working with Moore and presumably have first choice, but you never can tell.

Mind on Something Else. At a medical examination a young aspirant was asked, "When does mortification ensue?" "When you propose and are rejected," was the answer that greeted the amazed examiner.

QUACK DENTISTS MENACE BRITONS

Shocking Conditions Revealed by Investigating Committee.

REFORM URGED IN REPORT

Practice of Dentistry by Persons Wholly Unqualified Leads to Widespread Evil—Few Laws Regulating the Profession and These Are So Lenient That Almost Anyone Can Carry on General Practice—Few Real Americans There and Charges Are High.

A shocking condition of affairs has been called to public attention in England by a report recently made by a committee appointed a year ago to investigate the extent of the evils connected with the practice of dentistry by persons wholly unqualified to practice that profession.

It will be hard for Americans, who for many years have had wonderful advantages in the care of the teeth, to realize how dentistry is practiced in England. There are a few laws and government acts controlling the practice, but they are so lenient that almost anyone, from a boiler maker to a fugitive burglar, can go out into the provinces and, with practically no training at all, perform surgical operations on the teeth and jaws, administer anesthetics and carrying on a general practice. America has quick dentists of the advertising variety but as a rule, they have had some college training or, at least, some little merit as practitioners. But in England the advertising dentist may be by profession a janitor or a plumber.

In the report it was stated that the dental profession in England is suffering from the odium and dishonor cast upon it by the uneducated and untrained persons who are wandering about the country breaking teeth, and in some cases causing deaths, through the improper use of surgical instruments or narcotics.

Quacks Operate in Pairs. Under the present condition of affairs the traveling dentists, who are really nothing but quacks, go about England in pairs. As a rule there is one man who has some little knowledge of teeth, while his partner acts as canvasser, working mostly among the laboring classes soliciting trade for his chief.

While the chief is extracting sound teeth in one home, his canvasser is working next door convincing others that they need dental attention.

The result of the malpractice in this profession has been widespread decay in the teeth of the proletariat. The working classes in England not only have bad teeth, but they actually suffer from the diseases caused by lack of attention to the proper teeth. The theory on which the traveling dentist plies his trade is that once a tooth is aching and gets beyond the bearable stage it should be "pulled."

In hundreds of cases patients suffering from an ache in one tooth have several pulled and a set of false teeth put in to replace the sound teeth that might possibly ache in the future. The children of the working classes have very little attention in their schools, and as a result they grow up with decayed and crooked teeth. There is a system of inspection which goes to the point of advising dental attention, but makes no provision for such attention.

Reform Is Urged in Report. An illuminating part of the report is contained in the following paragraphs: "The state cannot afford to allow the health of the workers of the nation to be continually undermined by dental neglect. Steps should be taken, with-

DICE of DESTINY

By Jackson Gregory

They ran about the room, seeking a sign of that other passageway which had led these men directly into the drawing room.

"We had better go back," commanded Stanway crisply, after a short search which showed nothing. "We can break down the door into the room where they are. Gucho, Mentor, Vidal, you men stay here so that they cannot play hide-and-seek with us again."

"Fardon, senior. You are very kind. I already owe you much. But now I shall take care of these bandits."

It was the old Spaniard, Senor Don Antonio de la Guerra, his old fashioned black coat faultlessly clean of a speck of dust, his fine white mustache curled nicely, his eyes glowing very brightly, for a moment gentle and full of gratitude as they rested upon the rancher, then very hard as they turned toward the ceiling.

His vaqueros cried out sharply at the sight of him standing there so unexpectedly in their midst. From him they looked to the slender form of the white-faced girl at the door of a little closet which De la Guerra had suddenly thrown open.

"You, senior?" cried Stanway, astounded. "Not hurt?"

"I, senior?" De la Guerra lifted one white hand, showing for a moment the revolver in it. "At your attack I seized this. One man I killed. In the rush I got Teresa into the closet there. She, too, is unhurt. And now—"

Again his fine old face hardened, his eyes were burning black pools of merciless rage. He stepped across the room, set his hand to a spot which his thumb found readily, and a narrow door flew back, showing a stairway.

"This way, senior. May I go first? Thank you. Gucho, will you stay with the senior? Thank you, And, Senor Stanway, I should be glad to have you accompany me."

Already his foot was upon the first step. Stanway laid a quick hand upon his arm.

"Surely you do not think of coming upon them this way—"

"Surely," smiled the old man, "they are my guests. I am the host. I am going to them."

He went slowly up the short flight of stairs. Stanway close at his heels, wondering. The top was a little door. De la Guerra rapped softly with the barrel of his revolver.

There was a sudden silence in the room, voices dropped to whispers. De la Guerra knocked again.

"Well!" It was Torre's voice, sharp, impatient. "Who is it?"

"It is I, Senor Torre," answered the old man, quietly. "And I am Antonio de la Guerra. I bring my apologies for being so tardy to wait upon a guest—and I come to talk with you."

Again silence, again hurried whispers, then Torre crying out:

"What have you to say? I can put a bullet through the door which will find you. If you will open the safe, let us take the gold and go; you may keep the silver and stay. What do you say?"

De la Guerra laughed softly. And then, seriously, he answered:

"I say, my dear Senor Torre, you are talking bravely; but that you at last are in no position to dictate. It is I who dictate. Let me come in that we may talk, or I shall have to have Vidal chop down some more of my doors. And I do not like to do that."

Torre hesitated. Why? Stanway thought because he was studying his run with those keen eyes of his, trying to guess how far he could count on them now.

Stanway shuddered, seeing the deadly earnest threat in Torre's low-lidded eyes. But De la Guerra's gaze did not waver and he answered:

"Even that, Torre, is denied to you." He laughed softly. "For, above all things, you are a gambler and will take a gambler's choice! You can kill me, yes—perhaps! And if you did? My vaqueros would rush in here and on time for me to see you die! You know that. There would be no chance in it for you. I offer you a chance—if you let these men go, if you throw down your gun and agree to take the chance I offer you! And because a gambler above anything else in the world—why, you will accept the one little chance I offer you."

Torre hesitated. His hesitation was plain in his attitude, the head dropped a little, the moody gathering of the brows. He looked swiftly to the men about him, to Juarez first, to them all. Juarez shook his head slowly, his lips compressed, his eyes on the floor.

"There is no longer anything for me to fight for," he said slowly. "Nothing but death! I can find that any day upon the other side of the border, senior. I think—that you are alone!"

"Cowards! Cowards all!" jeered Torre. Then he turned again to De la Guerra. "What chance do you offer me, senior?"

"We shall speak of that when the others are gone, when you accept it," returned De la Guerra sternly. "I simply give you my word that I shall give you what the Americans here call an 'even break.' You haven't that now."

"Your word, senior?"

"My word," gravely.

"Bueno," cried Torre gayly. That is all that I ask. Adios, my little cowards," he smiled at Juarez and the rest. "Congratulations upon the game, my kinsman," bowing to De la Guerra. And he tossed his revolver to the table.

Protecting Airplane Propellers.

An aluminum plating for airplane propellers has been devised for the purpose of protecting the wood from the influence of the weather, which has been a serious problem heretofore. The plating is a thin leaf which is incorporated in the finish of the propellers, and the idea was developed by the Forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., and placed in production by the war department. The process is practically 100 per cent effective in preventing absorption of water, particularly in the storage stage. A French authority states that 80 per cent of the French propellers produced are rejected by the pilots mainly because they are out of balance. This difficulty is due largely to unequal absorption or distribution of moisture and can be greatly reduced by an effective water-proofing coating.

Stopping a Great Waste.

Millions of dollars' worth of fruit have been wasted in Florida during the quarter of a century. Hereafter nothing will be wasted as the drops, culms and ripses will all be utilized by new processes evolved by a chemist and scientist. The growers and the public generally will be helped by these processes, as the former will reap a benefit from the sale of their waste products and the latter will have the benefits of the manufactured products which are greatly in demand. —Florida Times-Union.

Electric Leap to Save Pet.

A leopard used by motion-picture concern recently took to snoring, which made him a disagreeable companion for the actors in the jungle scenes, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. Shooting him with a high-powered rifle was first considered, but was objected to, as it would disfigure the valuable pet. To avoid this, electrocution was decided upon, using power from a near-by station.

MARKED LACK OF NERVE FORCE IN MRS. BOYCE'S CASE

But Uniontown User Soon Made up the Lack By Taking Nerv-Worth.

Connellsville is taking kindly to this famous family tonic. Demonstrator England's Nerv-Worth campaign is moving along swiftly at the Connellsville Drug Company's store. The ailing folks are dropping in to sample the medicine, to secure Nerv-Worth reading matter and to buy the tonic. Others, who have bought and made the test and secured dividends of better health from the use of Nerv-Worth are telling about it. Among neighborhood statements here is one from Mrs. J. B. Boyce of Uniontown, who states the case and consents to publication, so that the largest possible number of fellow-sufferers may profit by her happy experience. And thus she put its to Uniontown's Nerv-Worth druggist:

Wade H. Guyton—For several years I have been in a very nervous condition. I did not have the nerve force to properly digest my food and it would ferment and gas formed in my stomach and so badly interfered with my heart-action that it would flutter and intermit. Was going down fast and losing strength and weight. Was very uneasy about my condition and could not sleep.

I purchased one bottle of Nerv-Worth from you and after using it as directed I am a changed woman. All the troubles mentioned have disappeared and am gaining strength and weight and am happy to be able to make this statement. Nerv-Worth certainly is a wonderful medicine.

Council shall have the right to reject any and all bids and proposals, and shall make the award to the responsible bidder whose proposition is most advantageous to the city.

The purchasing agent shall at all other times when directed by Council make such advertisements and Council may from time to time, by resolution, provide for a variation in the proposition for the collection of garbage and operation of the furnace, as may be deemed advantageous.

Section 15.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, upon conviction thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $100.00 and in case such fine is not paid, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days.

Section 16.—All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances inconsistent herewith be and hereby they are repealed.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous,
Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits over-time.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood, lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardices, are due in a large measure to abused nerves. People with plenty of red blood, corpulence and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and join in others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body, in a very few weeks and at trifling cost. Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as strong as before if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bisphren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

IMPROVEMENT IN PRODUCTION RATHER THAN LARGER DEMAND

Indicates Trade Has Safely Started on Road to a Gradual Recovery.

MIDSUMMER DULL PERIOD

In Iron and Steel Likely to be Followed by Stable Market, Both as to Demand and Values; More Ovens in Blast; Production Shows Big Gain.

From The Weekly Courier.

A distinct improvement in coke is now noticeable, more perhaps in a change to greater activity in production than to larger demand for the product. There is a tightening in the market, due to the lessened offerings, and price is holding close to $4.00 for furnace as the basis on spot transactions. No new demand is developing, at least not to any considerable extent, such gains in shipments as have been made being on contracts already in force.

While there are many indications that the trade has safely and securely taken its first steps toward an ascent from the slough of despond into which it had been plunged, the prudent and cautious observers of the situation are not disposed to regard the present improvement as anything more than the beginning of a steady upward trend. There is no disputing the fact that practically every disturbing element has been eliminated; that the bottom has been reached; that production has been nicely adjusted to demand and that, after the midsummer dull period in iron and steel has passed, there will be a return to normal conditions. No run-away market is expected with the opening of the fall activity, but such conditions will prevail as will restore coke to its proper place and value as a prime factor in the iron and steel industries.

It is scarcely to be expected that the improvement noted during the past two weeks will be steadily maintained at that rate. There is likely to be periods of recession, but the general trend will very probably be in the direction of a progressive gain in production, accompanied by a gradual appreciation of coke values.

HOW RHEUMATISM BEGINS

The excruciating agonies of rheumatism are usually the result of failure of the kidneys to expel poisons from the system. If the irritation of these acid crystals is allowed to continue, the bladder or kidney disease may result. Attend to it at once. Don't resort to temporary relief. Get some GOLD MEDAL Barium Oil Capsules immediately. They have brought back the joys of life to countless thousands of sufferers from rheumatism, back, humors, sciatica, gall stones, gravel and other ailments of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs.

They will attack the poisons at once, clear out the kidneys and urinary tract and the soothing healing oils and herbs will restore the inflamed tissues and organs to normal health.

FURTHER INCREASE IN ACTIVITY IN FINISHED STEEL MARKET NOTED

Buying is still on a small scale. With Some Cutting in Prices; Operation Holds Close to 60 Per Cent. Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Reporter will review the steel and iron trades tomorrow as follows:

The finished steel market has shown a further increase in activity in the past week, making almost a full month of improved conditions. Buying is not yet on a really large scale, nor is there assurance in what has already occurred that one of the steel trade's regular "buying movements" has begun. For one thing, the market must in 30 days meet the period of the year that is almost invariably characterized by extreme dullness. For another thing, there is as yet little buying of steel for use in large construction projects. A slight improvement in that quarter is now noted; and this may develop farther. Finally, however, there is the absence of railroad buying, with none of importance expected for deliveries this side of next year. The steel trade appears to have rounded the corner but it is not yet on a straight and clearly marked path.

It is a question whether the increased buying has stiffened prices or afforded more temptation to sellers to cut prices. Cutting, at any rate, does not run to extremes and seems to be confined to a relatively small proportion of the total productive capacity. The majority opinion seems to be that the general stability of the price structure is not seriously threatened, and even if open declines were provoked they would probably be of small amount compared with the December and March declines.

Steel mill operations vary somewhat, but are likely to maintain an average of 55 to 65 per cent for the next 60 days. The main thing, the more active market has done is to arrest the declines in rate of production that was so marked.

Pig iron prices are sagging at some points, chiefly where several districts compete with each other for business. Foundry iron for Pittsburgh delivery was purchased at $1 to $2 under the recognized Valley basis. The Birmingham market has declined, some Birmingham furnaces now quoting prices competitive with northern furnaces in much of the central western territory. Scrap is steady and coke shows a stronger tone.

Krupp Plant on Peace Basis. The Krupp Works of Germany has entered into peace production and, although the large machines have not yet been installed for the building of railway cars, locomotives and the like, it is reported that the manufacture of small articles has been begun.

Oppose Compensation Fund. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in session at Columbus, O., adopted resolutions strongly disapproving of its membership taking part in or assisting the Brotherhood Relief and Compensation Fund organization of the Pennsylvania railroad.

BIRTHDAYS NUMEROUS AT DUNBAR

Four Celebrations Come at Furnace Town and Community in Week.

EDNA MINERD VERY ILL

Daughter of Veteran Minister Not Responding to Treatment as Relatives Would Like to See; Post Trees, Frozes in Early Season Bloom Again

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, June 4.—The past week has been fertile in birthday celebrations. Friday, Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams of Fayette street, celebrated her fourth anniversary. She attended with her father the Memorial ceremonies in the morning, had a fine dinner and a number of little friends in to help her enjoy the evening, and declares she just had a grand birthday. She received a number of remembrances which she enjoyed, and in the end hers was likely the happiest birthday of them all.

Saturday Herman Carr, of Keffer, lately returned from France, was 22, and in the evening a number of his friends, totaling about 30, called and enjoyed with him the special program planned by his parents in his honor. Music and games made up the evening, and at 10:30 a family lunch was served and enjoyed. Mr. Carr was the recipient of a number of useful presents which he prizes very highly. When they had tired of playing, singing and chatting, Herman entertained them for half an hour with some chapters from his exciting experience in France.

Sunday a large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of William Leapine to remind Mrs. Leapine that her birthday had arrived, and to help her enjoy the day. Mr. Leapine, who had planned the pleasure for his wife, had provided liberally in good things to eat and the day was spent most pleasantly.

Yesterday Ruth Keffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Keffer, quietly celebrated her 13th birthday. The enjoyments consisted of a ramble with some young friends after wild flowers, an enjoyable "wading time" in the creek, a pleasant evening with light refreshments. She also received some congratulatory remembrances which she appreciates.

Woodvale street, so long apparently content with staidness, has thrown off its lethargy and is showing considerable enterprise. This is especially true of the south end of the street. Peter Johnson has made much improvement in the house he purchased on that street some time since, and Joseph Bunting, who some time ago purchased the old Andrew Miner property, is making extensive improvements in the house and enlarging the same, so changing its appearance at 50 that those familiar with it so long would not recognize it in its new dress. Other residents of that street are improving their homes and lots, and it is fast becoming one of the beauty spots of the town.

Miss Edna Miner, daughter of Rev. D. E. Miner, is seriously ill at the home of her father with whom she lives. She has been sick for some weeks and is not making that improvement her many friends earnestly hope for. She is making slight improvement, however, for which her father and friends are thankful.

W. R. Hardy, whose house on Furnace Hill was burned down last winter and who has been living in the borough since, is preparing to rebuild, and hopes to have his new home ready for occupancy by August. The building will be a two-story frame with modern conveniences.

Among visitors who spent Memorial Day in town were Mr. and Mrs. Edson E. Walters of Delmont; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jeffries of Smock; Mrs. Elvaz Lehman Twigg and children of Allison; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wagner of Connellsville; Grover C. Keffer of Connellsville; and Mr. and Mrs. John Ford of Connellsville.

Adam Wortman, W. E. Crowe,

J. L. Keffer, Rev. Theodore Darnell and Rev. D. E. Miner were the guests of J. T. Burbanck in an automobile trip to Percy Methodist Protestant church Friday afternoon, where the ministers and Keffer delivered addresses at the Memorial services. The trip in the auto was a very enjoyable one.

One of the unusual things of this unusual year is a second crop of blossoms on the pear trees on J. L. Keffer's lot. The first bloom was abundant and the promise of a heavy crop of fruit good, until the cold weather and frosts destroyed them, and got some of the pear leaves also. Then came the rains of May with the warm weather of the past 10 days, and to the surprise of their owner the trees were seen to be covered again with bloom. If these blossoms produce fruit a good crop may yet be gathered. The cherry trees are not so industrious. All with the exception of the Early Richmond, were killed, but as yet no blossoms have come nor is there any sign of bloom. The pear trees are showing the true American spirit, and propose to show Jack Frost that he can't have it all his own way. The apple crop was not injured by the cold and promises to be bountiful.

Tony Priorelli, commonly known as Tony Bell, who for the past 10 or 15 years has conducted a small store on Furnace Hill, has purchased the lot on Franklin avenue east of the Burbanck building, occupied by Wilson & Whistler's general store, and is erecting thereon a two story veneer brick business block, the basement of which will contain two storerooms, and the second story be used as a residence flat for his family. The building will be 48 ft. front and 32 ft. back. He will occupy one of the storerooms for his business and rent the other. The location is an excellent one. The foundation has already been excavated and the building will be pushed to completion with all possible speed. He hopes to have it completed by the first of September at farthest and a month sooner if it can be done.

Dunbar Methodist Episcopal circuit, consisting of the church here and the churches at Bethelboro and Lemont came beautifully over the top in the centenary missionary drive, much to the gratification of the pastor and congregations. The quota for the circuit was $7,830, and the amount pledged exceeds the quota by several hundred dollars.

The people of Dunbar and vicinity are wondering at the long delay in adjusting the West Penn fare zones and rates. The peace commission has nothing on these in the matter of "making haste slowly." With hopeful patience the people are gradually increasing their patronage of the West Penn in spite of the unreasonable

ASSIGNED CAR EVIL

To Be Curbed by Legislation if Present Plans Carry Out as Intended.

Legal prohibition against the use of assigned cars in the railroad fuel purchase is one of the means which the coal producers seek to employ to curb the power of the transportation lines to club operators into making low prices, says the Coal Trade Journal. The idea that Congress be asked to enact such a law comes from the committee on railroad relations of the National Coal Association and received the approval of that organization at its last convention.

It is frankly admitted in many quarters that the coal men have taken on a large sized order in backing this move, but it can not be said that their request is unfair. Much has appeared in the public prints in recent years with respect to the necessity of protecting the little man from the big man. It is often just as necessary to protect the seller from the buyer as to save the buyer from the seller, and the railroad fuel situation is a case particularly in point.
